--The MSC 3 comprises a Service Switching Point (SSP) 31 which implements a service switching function and which also provides an interface between a Services Control Point (SCP) 4 and the MSC 3. The SCP 4 serves to control the services requests etc. and is the function in the telecommunications network, which has access to data and logic for controlling processing of a call in order to provide a supplementary service. The SCP 4 is connected with a service management point (SMP) 5 in which IN services offered in the corresponding Intelligent Network are managed. In particular, also subscriber data such as an MSISDN (Mobile Station ISDN Number, i.e., Mobile Station Integrated Services Digital Network Number) are stored in the SMP 5.--

A3
--Thus, while there have been shown and described and pointed out fundamental novel features of the present invention as applied to preferred embodiments thereof, it will be understood that various omissions and substitutions and changes in the form and details of the devices described and illustrated, and in their operation, and of the methods described may be made by those skilled in the art without departing from the spirit of the present invention. For example, it is expressly intended that all combinations of those elements and/or method steps which perform substantially the same function in substantially the same way to achieve the same results are within the scope of the invention. Substitutions of elements from one described embodiment to another are also fully intended and contemplated. It is the intention, therefore, to be limited only as indicated by the scope of the claims appended hereto.--.
